FEELING BETTER.
IVAN'S UNICORN.
ACTION, PLEASE.

Wall street was a bit more cheerful when it went to bed Saturday night. The wise say the price of commodities has turned upward, a good sign. Steel inventories and other inventories are low, another good sign.

Bonds have recovered from their fainting spell, also good.

One broker who has been young, and is now old, who never saw a conservative broker forsaken or his seed begging bread can't understand our crop attitude.

"There was," said he, "a time when, the bigger the crop, the greater the joy. Farmers might get smaller prices but they had more to sell. Railroads made money moving crops. A bumper crop was a bumper year."

"Now big crops make the farmers sad. Government buys the wheat, stores it, and railroads don't carry it. What's the matter with us?"

Close to an old Hindu temple, in India, dwelt James Brandon, American, who devoted years to asceticism, occultism, mystic healing and other nonsense to take the place of action.

Some one stole a pair of spectacles through which, he said, "I was able to see God." Then he died.

The things that men believe are amazing. When the time came for Ivan of Russia to die, he sent for his precious horn of a unicorn. It was really the horn of a narwhal, which has a long tusk sticking out in front of its head, but Ivan thought it came from a unicorn, although such an animal never lived. He drew a circle on the table with the powerful horn. Servants put some spiders inside the circle. They died at once. Others, put outside of the circle, ran away. Ivan said:

"My unicorn's horn has lost its power and I shall die."

He did die, but his way of living killed him. The unicorn was not responsible.

To avoid unpleasant discussion, the world court nuisance is laid on the shelf for a year. And the Wickesham prohibition committee, apparently by request, remains hidden in the cellar.

There seems to be nothing to keep Congress from getting in front of its business, but generous relief of those that are entitled to it, settlement of the Muscle Shoals question: "Cheap fertilizer for farmers, or additional dividends for power companies," etc., in time to adjourn after the short session.

It is not complimentary to Congress and it is somewhat of a joke on our noble democracy, but the fact is that big business, which is our real government, feels that the sooner Congressmen go home the better for the country.

Stalin, having removed Rykoff from the council of peoples commissars, now rules as undisputed dictator of all the Russians.

His power is as absolute as was that of Peter the Great, of the early dukes of Moscow who held as their own the lives and property of every Russian.

The early Russia autocrats used

A WORD ON BREAKFAST

Breakfast, like the luncheon club, is a grossly abused institution in the United States. Both suffer from the cruel and highly unsatisfactory results resulting from an attitude that holds the actual business of eating subordinate to a more urgent purpose.

Breakfast should be the first happy event in a day usually speckled liberally with misfortunes. It should be a fortress erected by man between his better nature and the hundred and one annoyances experience has taught him to anticipate. As the first act of the day it should be planned and consummated with extreme care.

One hates to say that breakfast is not that in the majority of city homes. The city man lies abed until the last moment. He arises, fumbles through his morning shave and stumbles to the breakfast table in a panicky haste. He gulps his coffee, wolf's his rolls and rushes to his office conscious only that he has been detained for a few minutes by a necessary incident in the day's routine.

There are those who know and do much better of course. There are city dwellers who arise early and partake of a surely breakfast. There are some who take a brisk walk before eating breakfast and a few who come back to their homes after an hour or two at work to eat. The farmer, of course, has the best system and the most propitious conditions for employing it. He arises early, works hard until the day is well under way and goes back to the house with a capacity for a half dozen flapjacks, a half-foot of sausage, two cups of coffee and a pair of doughnuts. When he is through, the agricultural depression is little more than a remote possibility.

There is no apparent reason why anyone should not be able to regard breakfast as does Stanley Baldwin, once prime minister of England and now a non-titled power in the government. "I always enjoy my breakfast," he said on one occasion. "I find it the most pleasant meal of the day. I am getting to be an old man now, but I still come down to breakfast every morning feeling full of great hope, faith and cheer. By lunch time I have lost a great deal of it, and by evening I am nearly giving up all hope for this world or the next."

THE WORLD MOVES ON

Mayor William Hale Thompson, whose name is more dignified than he is, has announced his candidacy for a fourth term as mayor of Chicago. Those who criticize the city in terms of its executive will be greatly interested in the survival possibilities of America's most notorious example of corrupt politics.

A group picture of the seven new senators looks more like a gang of golfers in street clothes than seven No. 1 legislators. At the short end of the line is the diminutive Dwight Morrow, only topped a few inches by James J. Davis. Robert J. Bulkley ties for first place in height with George D. McGill of Kansas. First prize for handsomeness goes to Robert D. Carey of Wyoming.

Patrolman Vincent Husak is the most recent victim of banditry in Cleveland. A few days ago when a detective was too quick on the trigger and shot an innocent man he was censured, although he had been praised a few days previously for shooting first and talking afterward. Now Patrolman Husak is wounded because he wasn't quick enough. "Benny, meeny, miny, mo" might be a good way to decide when to shoot, if in doubt.

Out in Oklahoma, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray is preparing the policies he will support when he becomes governor of the state. Scoring professional advisers he has withdrawn alone to Tishomingo among the home folks. Governor-elect Murray is a long, long way from Ohio as news go but it's noticeable that the stories about him are no longer discrediting. He has changed overnight from the dark horse in a surething race to Oklahoma's "white-haired boy." He deserves all the good luck that can be sent his way.

The teamwork between North Carolina's senators, Josiah Bailey, elected last November, and Cameron Morris, appointed to succeed the late Lee S. Overman, seems to be nihil. At any rate, Senator Morrison is supporting Frank R. McNinch as a nominee to the federal power commission, and Senator Bailey is opposing him in every way possible. One doubts that Mr. McNinch relishes the tugs in two directions at once.

What Others Say

Prestige of the British Throne
Several recent observers have remarked upon the increased power of the monarchy in England during the last 100 years. The architect of the revived fortunes of the throne was unquestionably Queen Victoria. No doubt is left by a number of recent books, notably the memoirs of E. F. Benson and the correspondence of Gladstone, that, although after the passing of the prince consort she apparently retired into privacy, she continued to exercise a dominating influence upon the political activities of her prime ministers. Not once, but many times, she overrode the wishes of Disraeli, Gladstone, and Salisbury.

She was able to do this because of her consciousness that she thoroughly understood and expressed the desires of the strongest section of the community—the newly enfranchised middle classes. The return of the crown to much of its ancient power was therefore due to its being in absolute sympathy with the opinion of the politically dominant class. One might have expected that when the further extension of the franchise transferred political preponderance from the middle classes to the democracy some diminution of the monarchy's popularity would have occurred.

It was, indeed, though few appreciated it at the time, a critical moment in the history of the British monarchy. But no such diminution happened. Instead the British kingship has adapted itself without friction or loss of time to the needs of a democratic community. It has established a sympathy with the aims of the democracy which bids fair to rival in intensity the mutual understanding of Victoria and the bourgeoisie.—Christian Science Monitor

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, December 23
The pressure for this day, according to astrological tenets, is for much change and stirring about with probable journeys and much application and industry in connection with the avocations of the holiday season. There may be some recognition or assistance from elderly persons or institutions although this to a modest degree. Anxieties about letters with duplicity or fraud, is seen.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of some change or travel, probably in relation to work, which should prosper fairly through industry and application. There may be favors from elderly persons, but be on guard against fraud or trickery, especially in connection with letters or papers. A child born on this day should be industrious, respectable and skillful in many directions, leaning to original research and invention. It may be fond of change and travel, and win the assistance of elderly persons or institutions.

NEW YORK
Day by Day
by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Diary of a modern Peppys: Lay late and talked over the phone to Winnie Sheehan, in town from Hollywood, and he tells me Will Rogers has become foremost of the talkies stars. And yet his success as a silent screen comedian was not so conspicuous, the lucky tuff.

So to a breakfast, of chitlins sent from North Carolina and a he-gossip fluttered in with tales of a great novelist and his sundry amours which interested me not at all, my fancy at the moment being solely chitlins. Then fashioning a piece for a movie magazine.

Vincent Lopez, the band man, to dinner and happy to wear a business suit, the most of his evenings being spent in starched shirts and what Park Avenue calls "tails." And the late Will Hogg's Homer cooking a chili so fiery we broke into a heavy sweat. So all night gulping ice water.

Around 7th and 8th avenues, below the Pennsylvania terminal, is the fur district, perhaps the most concentrated business in New York. In this area, between 27th and 28th street, are two thousand firms—dealers, dyers, manufacturers. Next to Leipzig, New York is the world's biggest fur center.

A fur dealer is often the breadwinner of traders. Many are scrupulously honest but many more are rascals. There is no business where gullible are so easily taken in to camp. Furs, costing $25, can be flossed up to fool any layman. Every fur can be expertly counterfeited. It is a good advice for fur buyers always to patronize the reputable establishment.

The oldest fur trick still flourishes on shadowy streets after nightfall. Men in overalls stand in doorways of wholesale districts posing as truckmen. They furtively reveal a fur, intimating it was stolen. Take it quickly for $15! It can be bought wholesale for $2. Such salesmen offer average $200 a week profits.

High in buildings in the fur district are swanky show rooms suggesting the elegance of the salons of Paris couturieres. Prowling models, swathed in the wealth of the Arctic, strut and swirl before plump middlewest buyers. I saw one tired mannikin, enjoying the temporary luxury of a sable coat, priced at just 1,000 times her weekly wage. Not in this decade have furs suffered such slashing reductions as this winter.

In smaller shops, windows and show cases are mountaineous high with raw and finished skins. Walls are hung with pelts from far flung corners of the globe. Sables from Siberia, chinchillas from Bolivia, caracals from India and red foxes from Labrador. Bespectacled gentlemen barter and trade, running nimble and appraising fingers through dark Canadian martens, short strip skunks, etc. Their fingers are attuned to the "feel"—they recognize fur values by touch.

Following a tramp through the fur district I opened the door of a taxi awaiting a shift of lights. In the corner was a coddler in pajamas, heavy bathrobe and with silk hat askew, slumping in sound slumber. "The old bird is sleeping off a lulu," explained the driver, and shot away. New York!

Personal nomination for the most picturesque looking type left along Broadway—Louis Mann and his gatesajar collar and flowing bow tie.

An important magazine nearly reached the presses with the best description of the year. In referring to one of those omnipresent society crashers—the kind seen everywhere but who cannot make the grade—he was called: "The 400's One-Eye Connolly."

A cafe near Broadway in West 44th street is the meeting place of gangsters and their chorus girls. One evening with a millionaire, next with a gangster and after that—a roll of the drums, professor—the shake-down.

From F. T. E. Chicago: "I read your column the other morning under a New York dateline and 20 minutes later I saw you on Michigan boulevard, pearl hat and all. How come?"

It's an illusion. I do it with mirrors.

Settlement Made

Although the petition asking for the appointment of a receiver was filed last Monday, there has been a settlement in the case of the Salem Chastel Mortgage Co., against the Per-Mat Furniture Co. of Salem.

High Gleckler of Salem, was appointed receiver in this matter, and he was allowed a nominal sum by the court for his fees and expenses, but he has now been discharged by the court.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

"Foot Health"

If a person is to be happy he must have foot health. As a matter of fact the feet play a large part in the welfare. Unhealthy conditions of the feet can upset the entire nervous system, and cause all sorts of physical disabilities.

Probably no foot ailment is more common, particularly among women, than bunions. They are troublesome and deforming.

These are due to enlargement of the sac covering the joint which is formed by the lower bone of the large toe and the head of the connecting bone of the top of the foot. They sometimes form on other joints of the foot.

The present-day tendency of women to wear extremely pointed-toe shoes with an equally extremely high heel has its disadvantages. Many times the shoe is too short. The toes cannot possibly follow the straight line of the foot, which is the right position for the toes. Instead the great toe is pressed inward. This causes the joint sac to become irritated and inflamed. The result is a deformity of the foot which is both painful and unsightly.

If the trouble is taken quickly and a correctly shaped shoe is worn, the toe will resume its natural position. But when the deformity becomes excessive it becomes necessary in many cases, to resort to an operation.

However if the trouble is not beyond local treatment a great deal of comfort may be had by the use of felt bunion-plasters. These protect the foot against pressure from the shoe. If there is great irritation of the joint it is well to apply iodine, ichthyl or some other soothing liniment. When there is excessive inflammation of the joint, the only one who can help you will be a competent foot specialist, a podiatrist, or doctor.

A correctly fitting shoe has a tendency to make the wearer stand and walk correctly. The weight falls on the heel and on the ball of the foot, with the toes pointing straight ahead not pointing out.

A shoe should fit snugly around the portion of the foot just back of the heel as well as the part just back of the ball of the foot or waist of the foot. The shoe must be wide enough to accommodate the toes without too much squeezing. If there is a weak arch, it is well to have a more rigid shank than the usual pliable arch provides. This will prevent undue strain of the muscles.

Many a backache has come from wearing the wrong shoes. Your efficiency and ambition can be sufficed by aching feet. Why have them?

Buy comfortable shoes. Shoes can be had that combine comfort and good looks. They make for good foot health and stronger nerves, and greater efficiency.

Twenty Years Ago

(Issue of Dec. 22, 1910)

Salem friends have received word of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sheehan of Marshalltown, Ia., on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan formerly lived in this city.

Lisbon—Miss Dot Arter, proprietor of the East End park, opened the newly constructed ice rink at the park this afternoon. In addition to a large skating place, shelter houses have been erected and a restaurant opened.

Mrs. Calvin Thomas of Denver, Col., was honored at a luncheon given Wednesday by her sister, Mrs. Theda Allen, northwest of the city. The guests, 10 schools friends of Mrs. Thomas, were taken to the Allen home in a big bobsled.

A group of relatives and friends of Mrs. Margaret Miller of Lincoln avenue surprised her Wednesday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. Mrs. Miller was presented with a linen table cloth.

Karl Hopkins, James Bullard, Austin Kay and Wilbur Thomas arrived home Wednesday evening from Oberlin college to spend the holidays with their families.

Ludwig Derfus, medical student of Michigan university, Ann Arbor, Mich., is home for the holidays.

Mrs. William Conkle's three small children are ill with tonsillitis at their home on Wilson street. John Conkle is also ill with the same disease.

D. S. Kintner, who has been attending Denison college at Granville, arrived here Wednesday. He will spend Christmas at New Kensington.

Christmas Carol Program
From the top of the 81st floor of the world's tallest building is to come a Christmas carol program on Christmas eve.

Standing near the base of the grigible mooring mast on the roof of the Empire State building on Fifth avenue, New York, 16 singers will give a half-hour program starting at 4:30 p. m. next Wednesday for distribution by the WJZ network.

At the same time, giant loudspeakers, said to have a range of 10 miles, will make the songs available to people on the street nearly a quarter of a mile below the carolers.

Dramas Scheduled

Three experimental plays arranged to determine just what can be done with drama on the air are billed for WABC and stations with in the next several weeks. The first, at 10:30 p. m. December 26, is to be "Behind the Words". It will be followed on at 10 p. m. December 29, with "Evidence", a mystery play, and at 10 p. m. January 7, with "The Threshold", a psychological play.

Tonight's Features

Try these on your set tonight: Fifteen minutes in the nation's capital, WEAF chain, at 8:15, with Representative James B. Aswell, Democrat, of Washington, speaking on "Emergency Relief Legislation for Agriculture."

The Gypsies' hour, with the orchestra directed by Harry Horlick, on the WEAF network at 8:30.

Flashes :: of Life

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The steamship, Broadway is signing on a crew of 1,100 men for a winter's cruise to the port of better times.

Though the Broadway will never cast moorings from her Staten Island pier, Capt. Fritz Nelson expects her to weather many a stormy knot of unemployment. The wages will be a clean, warm bunk a night and three messes a day. Except for a four-hour watch daily, every man will have unlimited shore leave to hunt a job. For weeks, a skeleton crew has been polishing up the vessel and now the flags of many nations fly at her masts, live steam sports from her boilers and the gallery gives off pungent odors.

The Broadway is the Salvation Army's solution to the plight of shipless seamen. The Boston, New York & Southern Steamship Co. turned her over at low rent and city officials provided a free pier. Captain Nelson—an ensign in the army—will take his pay in satisfaction.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Columbia university is trying to find out why people live in Greenwich village.

Disguised as laborers and apartment hunters, student investigators are sneaking up on the Bohemians in a door-to-door canvass to determine who lives in the sector, whether they pay their rent and whether any of them are employed.

Such subtle and guileless inquiries as these are being made. "How long does it take you to reach the nearest subway station?"

"Where do you work?"
"Have you lived in any other parts of New York?"

MARSHALL, MO.—At least five children are certain there is a Santa Claus. That's the name of their father, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus are residents of Marshall.

NEW YORK — The farmer needs relief in one respect less than other folks. Research under the auspices of the Mi-bank Memorial fund shows that men in middle life engaged in agriculture are in better health than those in professions, business or skilled trades.

S. S. BELGENLAND—Prof. Einstein is learning about cruises in tropical water. On the way to Panama from Havana he found his black felt too heavy and borrowed a Panama. He had to try several times. The first men asked had heads larger than his.

NEW YORK—Society is wondering whether the wealthy Mrs. Fanny Burke-Roche, who is to visit New York during the holidays, will look over the debutantes with a view to extending invitations abroad. Her twins, Lord Fernoy, Irish peer and Frank, a banker in France, are bachelors and quite eligible.

PASSAIC, N. J. — Owen Cunningham, police captain, has done a satisfactory job to all concerned. A 200-pound buck deer was claimed by three hunters, all insisted their bullets had killed it. The captain called in a butcher, who trisected the animal, or something like that.

Time for the Truth About Washing Machines

"Gold Bond
An Unlimited
Guarantee" Goes
with Every Washer

Too many half-truths and untruths about washing machines have been advertised in recent years.

For instance, the claim that clothes can be kept white week after week without soaking and boiling them, and by running them through only ONE suds.

Did our grandmothers put dirty clothes in scalding water?

The truth is that no washing machine ever made can keep clothes PERMANENTLY free from "that all-over grayish tinge" and that "harsh feel" except by (1) the use of "two successive suds" or (2) by soaking and boiling the clothes, or (3) by the use of caustics or bleaches.

Of these three methods, only one is really satisfactory—namely, the "two successive suds" method which is advocated by Good Housekeeping Institute and used by Dexter's Fastwin.

Why a double-tub washer?

You can soak, wash, scald, wring or blue, all in one operation! Then why buy a single washer at any price? Yes, we have single washers with ironing machine included, for less than $160. Who want a single washer, after using our Fastwin? Is the single washer doomed? Try a Fastwin—then judge for yourself!

What a waste of a difference that extra tub makes—and what a waste of work that extra washer saves!

Low price without sacrifice! Super convenience and super mechanism. Join the happy Fastwin club. Liberal allowance for your old washer. Ask about the trade-in club plan.

For women who are willing to do the extra work which is necessary with any single-tub washer in order to keep clothes free from grayness, the Dexter company builds the Dexter Speedex.

Builders of fine washers for more than a quarter century, the Dexter company originated the double-tub type of washer 21 years ago, and the first one ever made is still in weekly use.

Dexter washers are made to wear—not only to sell.

And see the new Dexter Rainbow Ironer in either 30-inch or 46-inch size—electric or gas heated. Simplicity of operation and sturdy construction is unsurpassed. Notice the famous fingertip safety control.

Salem Damage Suits On Court Schedule

LISBON, Dec. 22.—Civil cases that were assigned for trial in common pleas court last week and not reached, and which were to have gone before the court this week, had a criminal assignment been disposed of, will be tried the week of Jan. 6. It was announced today by Judge W. F. Lones. No assignment will be issued for common pleas court for the balance of the year.

It is also possible that a visiting jurist will be assigned to Columbia county by Chief Justice C. T. Marshall during the January term of court, as it is the desire of Judge Lones to have a number of Salem "fever" damage cases disposed of during the new term of court.

The grand jury will go into session Monday, Jan. 5, and the petit jury will report for duty at 9 o'clock the morning of Jan. 6.

There need be no limit to man's travels once he escapes from the pull of the earth's gravitation.

Doubters say men might go to Mars, but how could they come back?

The answer is that what men can imagine, they can do.

PRESBYTERIAN PARTY

A program and games entertained at the annual party of the beginners and primary departments of the Presbyterian Sunday school Saturday afternoon at the chapel. Mrs. L. Frank Smith, superintendent, was in charge.

Mrs. Gertrude Stewart told the Christmas story and Rev. C. S. Conley gave a talk. Other numbers were: Christmas carols played by Mrs. Marie Kennedy, song by the primary department; recitations, Dorothy Haldi, Emogene Demut; recitations and music, Robert and Helen Louise Kinehart.

The room was decorated in pine and there was a Christmas tree. Lunch was served and the children were also given a treat. Mothers of the children were included in the guest list.

4 ESCAPE DEATH AS MAIL PLANE HITS DWELLING

Ship Skids Off High Tension Wires, Crashes Into House

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Four persons narrowly escaped death and part of a 1,500 pound load of air mail was destroyed early today in the crash of a tri-motored plane of the Trans-Continental-Western Air line, from Salt Lake City, into a house near Alhambra terminal of the air line.

Hits High Tension Wires
The crash occurred when the big plane, piloted by Bart Cox, veteran flier, struck high tension wires on one boundary of the field. A Gusternaut of Wyoming, a passenger, was burned slightly. Describing a fiery path through the darkness the plane hurtled into the side of the home of a A. L. Toner at the edge of the field. Cox, George Sherwood, co-pilot, and Gusternaut leaped as it struck.

The Toner residence burst into flames, ignited by the blazing forward structure of the plane.

While Gusternaut ran to find treatment for burns about his hands, the two pilots entered the home. They found Toner, alone and dazed.

Mail Is Saved
Cox and Sherwood carried him from the structure.

Police and firemen saved three pouches of mail.

The greater part of the cargo was damaged by fire and water. The value of the mail load was not made known.

MOVIES

"CASE OF SERGEANT GRISCHA" At the State

Herbert Brenon, director of many notable films, has turned out one of the most absorbing human dramas ever shown "The Case of Sergeant Grischka," now showing at the State Theatre.

Headed by Chester Morris, the sensational star of "Alibi" in the title role, "The Case of Sergeant Grischka" has a cast which includes such favorites as Betty Compson, Alec B. Francis, Jean Hersholt, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Paul McAllister.

Brenon treats the story with rare sympathy and understanding. Every character seems real. One is inclined to forget that a motion picture is being shown and believe that episodes from life in some miraculous manner are being revealed to the eye and ear.

"The Case of Sergeant Grischka" is laid in a World War setting but it is not a "war picture." Its action occurs far behind the front lines, and offers vivid glimpses of the drama which grew out of the struggles of those unfortunate caught in the clutches of a vast military machine.

Grischka's escape from the prison camp, his romance with Babka, played by Miss Compson, his recapture and sentence to death, the dramatic argument between the two generals over his fate and his amazing decision at the climatic moment, are powerful episodes in a drama which will long be remembered.

Morris as "Grischka" gives the outstanding performance of his career. He has captured the spirit of a peasant-soldier beaten down by war and has imbued the character with rare realism.

Miss Compson plays the Russian refugee who falls in love with Grischka in compelling fashion. Despite its military setting, a strong element of romance runs through "The Case of Sergeant Grischka."

Row Over Homebrew; Woman Is Dead

(By Associated Press)
WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 22.—Because her husband insisted on sampling a batch of homebrew they made for Christmas holidays, Mrs. Anna Mars, 54, broke the bottles over the furniture in their home last night. The husband, John, a painter, died.

Returning an hour later, Mars found his wife dead on the glass-littered floor. He was and the upper part of her body cut in several places. She had died by death.

Police expressed the belief, after questioning and releasing the husband, that Mrs. Mars collapsed from excitement of the quarrel and was cut by falling on the broken glass.

Pay Up, Court Order

LISBON, Dec. 22.—Execution of a 30-day sentence in the county jail has been suspended by Judge W. F. Logan in the case of Floyd E. Pollock, whom the court declared to be in contempt for failing to pay an alimony order entered in the divorce action filed against him by his former wife Maude M. Pollock.

The court has ordered Pollock to pay $70 he is in arrears at the rate of $10 monthly, beginning next month, and in addition $5 weekly as he was heretofore ordered to pay.

ARMY OFFICER CANCELS TRIP

Shepard's Denver Jaunt Is Called Off; Jury Deadlocked

15, 1929, was to report this morning for resumption of her duties as a stenographer at Brooks Field, Texas.

Trend of Balloting Secret
The jurors, showing the strain of their responsibility, retired at 7 o'clock last night without revealing the trend of the balloting. They received the case at 2:30 p. m. Saturday after a trial lasting almost three weeks in which approximately 100 witnesses testified.

The assignment of Maj. Shepard in the fall of 1928 to the Flight Surgery school of Brooks field, near San Antonio, Texas, started a chain of events which the government asserted led the army tuberculosis specialist into a love affair which caused him to kill his wife.

Defense counsel, scripting virtually the same chain of evidence, declared the major innocent and said: "All he did was fall in love with another woman."

MARKET HEAVY; TRADING QUIET

Railroad And Merchandising Shares Lear In Reaction

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—After a little early buying of the copper had been satisfied, the stock market turned heavy today, with railroad and merchandising shares leading the reaction. Trading, however, was quiet.

Coca Cola, down 6 points, and Eastman Kodak, United Fruit, Case and First National stores down 3 to 4, were prominent soft spots. New York Central, Reading, Kroger Grocery and Auburn Autos lost 2 to 2 1/2, and U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Sears Roebuck, R. H. Macy and Southern Pacific 1 to 1 1/2. Anaconda, Kennecott and Inspiration Copper retained part of their initial 1 point advances.

Prison Gates Open To 300 Convicts

(By Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Dec. 22.—Gates of Alabama's state prison opened today to more than 300 convicts who are going home for Christmas.

From every state prison 15-day paroles freed men who in some instances have served more than 25 years but whose conduct has been especially meritorious.

This is the third year during the administration of Gov. Bibb Graves that long time convicts have been rewarded with Christmas paroles and so far only six have failed to return. One of these was killed while enroute home last year.

There will be no check on them from the time they leave the prisons, until the day their paroles expire, Jan. 5.

COLLEGE CHIEF IS OPPOSED TO LIQUOR RULING

Dr. Ernest Martin Hopkins, Dartmouth, "Cannot See Advantages"

(By Associated Press)
HANOVER, N. H., Dec. 22.—Dr. Ernest Martin Hopkins, president of Dartmouth college, in his first public statement on the prohibition question today declared his opposition to the 18th amendment.

Answers Temperance Unit
He outlined his attitude in a letter to the National Temperance council, composed of the principal officers of national temperance organizations, in reply to a request from the council for a statement of his views. In it, he said: "I do not see how individuals or organizations whose solicitude is for building up a spirit of temperance can continue either to believe in or to support the theory of the practice of the 18th amendment as defined in current legislation."

He previously has refrained from making any public statement in the belief that to do so would create misunderstanding in regard to the attitude of the college and because he felt that practice might eventually show prohibition to be conducive to temperance.

Sees No Advantage
"Now, however, looking back over a period of time in which at least the tendencies developed by the amendment can be shown," he wrote, "I cannot see, in the large, that advantage has accrued to anybody, except possibly to industrial efficiency, in the enactment of the amendment and in the mass of legislation which has followed in its trail."

He said he did not believe it a proper function of the constitution "to devise summary provisions for personal conduct," or that detailed provisions "for increasing the industrial efficiency of workmen belong in a national charter of any government except of one more frankly utilitarian than I am willing to see the United States become."

GUNN IS TAKEN TO KANSAS CITY

Mob Is Unsuccessful In Attempt To Seize Prisoner

(By Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Dec. 22.—Fears for the safety of Raymond Gunn, negro trapper charged with the murder of Miss Velma Colter, 19-year-old rural school teacher, today led Buchanan county officers to bring the prisoner here for safekeeping. The officers, fearing further violence from a mob which early yesterday successfully attempted to deliver the prisoner, spirited Gunn from the Buchanan county jail where he has been confined since his arrest at Maryville, Mo., his home.

As the prisoner was taken from his cell, police dispersed a group of 25 persons who had gathered in the courthouse yard. No threats were made and they fled away without resistance.

Shortly before midnight officers had been warned that men were gathering at Pumpkin center, a filling station 20 miles north of here.

The mob of 150 persons which stormed the jail early yesterday, was disbanded by deputy sheriffs, policemen, city firemen and members of a national guard tank company. The mob was said to have been composed of men from Maryville, the teacher's home town, and from other towns in the vicinity. The extra forces were withdrawn from the jail after standing guard all night.

28 Cases Less On Common Pleas List

LISBON, Dec. 22.—The January court term bar docket just issued by Clerk of Courts John A. Noble contains 28 less cases than the bar docket for the January term of the current year.

There are 833 cases listed in the new docket whereas that for Jan., 1930, showed 861 unfinished cases. The smallest number of cases listed during the current year was in the September docket which showed 788 cases.

Notwithstanding the large number of actions disposed of during the current year by Judge W. F. Lenes in No. 1 court, and with visiting jurists presiding in No. 2 court room, an average of 75 or more new petitions are filed monthly.

The court of appeals will not sit in this county until April 6, and the fall term of this court will open Nov. 9 next.

THE DAY In Sports

Ex-Highs Prepare For Charity Contest With Fast Boosters Outfit

Southern football teams, in three previous trips to the Pacific Coast, have never lost a Tournament of Roses game.

Since the inception of the Tournament of Roses game in 1916 the far west's representative has won six games lost three and tied three. Of the three defeats Southern teams have scored two of them, and Notre Dame the other.

Alabama, which meets Washington State in Rose Bowl January 1, 1931, has made two previous trips to the west coast and won once and played a tie the other time. In 1926 the Crimson Tide came to Portland to defeat the U. of Washington, 20-19, and the next year played Stanford a 7-7 tie. In 1929 Georgia Tech upheld the Old South's prestige by winning from California, 8-7.

Unlike eastern teams which have been bothered by the climate, Southern eleven have played in this section have found the weather favorable to them.

As was the case when Alabama defeated Washington in 1926, the Southern will be favored by the climate. Pullman, Washington, home of Washington State College is east of the Cascade range in Washington. It is high and cold there, the climate being almost the opposite of that prevailing at Pasadena.

Altitude similar to one at home. The altitude and climate at Tuscaloosa, Ala., home of the U. of Alabama, is similar in many ways to that of Pasadena.

Of the 12 Tournament of Roses games played, all but three have been reasonably close. In 1921 California's wonder team routed Ohio State, 28-0. In 1925 Notre Dame's Four Horsemen defeated Stanford, with Ernie Nevers, 27-10, although the Cardinals made the larger number of first downs. Last year Southern California overwhelmed Pittsburgh, 47-14, in the most decisive victory ever scored in the Pasadena classic.

Scores of former Tournament of Roses games follow:

1916—Washington State 14, Brown 0.
1917—Oregon 14, Pennsylvania 0.
1921—California 28, Ohio State 0.
1922—California 0, Washington & Jefferson 0.

1923—Southern California 14, Penn State 3.

A message has been received from three signing as "Joe, John, Pete, cash customers." The letter to the effect that gridiron fans of the city would like to see Salem High play a stiffer schedule next season and suggested that the Lisbon and Leontia games be dropped from the schedule and be replaced by teams in the category of Struthers and Youngstown Chaney.

"Wry not forget the one-horse teams and give the fans some real stuff like other schools have," the letter asks. "Give us Chaney, Struthers, Martins Ferry, Akron, St. Vincent's and others."

The idea, from the standpoint of entertainment for the fans, probably is all right. But the coaches of the football team as well as school officials, probably look upon it in another light. There are limits to everything and the physical capacity of the team as a whole very likely wouldn't stand a schedule calling for opposition of the highest type Saturday after Saturday. What college team, outside of Notre Dame, has attempted anything like it?

This season's schedule included Warren, Canton McKinley, Athens, Akron West, Youngstown South, Youngstown East, Wellsville and New Philadelphia—all good teams, some of them much better than the average.

Maxillon and Niles may appear on next year's schedule. Niles' appearance is certain while Faculty Manager Harold Williams has already contracted for a game with East Liverpool.

CHICO, CAL.—"Hen" Turner, tender of a bridge at Oroville, must "pipe down" the women of Oroville have demanded. "Hen," it seems, likes a good story and, being slightly deaf, tells them in a loud voice. And, the women say, some of his chuckle-makers are spied, to say the least, so they told the board of supervisors about it.

A strong aggregation of former Salem High school basketball stars: Malcolm Rush, Lowell Allen, Bob Campbell, Les Older, Bob Cope, Ed Eidinger, Pete Harsh and others—will oppose the formidable Columbian Franklin Boosters in the charity contest at the high school gymnasium here at 9:15 tonight.

Playing together or the first time in several seasons, the ex-High combination held a practice session at the Memorial building over the week-end and put up a great display of basketball. Included in the team which will take the floor against the invading quintet will be a number of players recognized as being among the best ever produced at Salem High.

College Stars On Team
Every member of the all-star team has been competing in basketball contests, college and other phases, since leaving high school. Mal Rush is now captain of the Bethany, W. Va., college team; Campbell played with the quintet which last year won the Wisconsin state championship in Class AA competition in a tournament played at Green Bay; Sidingler is a member of the Cincinnati university varsity squad, while Cope and Allen have been playing regularly with the Mount Union varsity.

Older and Harsh are members of Salem city league teams while Gus Tolerton, now at Western Reserve, is ineligible for varsity basketball but is keeping in condition playing in inter-fraternity leagues.

Cope will be used at center with Campbell and Sidingler at guards to start the game. Allen and Rush will form the forward combination.

Boosters Strong
The Boosters will bring a strong array of grid talent composed of Steve Minehart, Johnny Russ, Black, Slagle, Buck Birkle and others. Minehart played with the Big Y teams, stands six foot, four in stocking feet and weighs easily over the 200 mark. Russ is assistant coach at Youngstown Rayen while Birkle is Coaching Boardman High.

The Boosters rung up a 30-10 victory against the Salem R. E. Grove Electric team when they played under name of Leontia Merchants at Kelley's park last week and are considered one of the district's outstanding independent aggregations.

A team of Salem juvenile cage stars, known as the Salem Midgets, coached by J. M. Kelley, who arranged the charity tilt, will clash with the Columbian All-Star Midgets of Youngstown in the preliminary game at 8 p. m. The second game will not start until 9:15 to permit merchants who are holding stores open evening during the holiday shopping season to attend the contest.

Proceeds will be donated to a fund raised by Kelley to provide Christmas dinners for more than 200 Salem kiddies. The dinner will be held at the Memorial building Wednesday night.

COLUMBIANA
Columbian Sunday schools, with the exception of the Methodist, whose Christmas program was given Thursday evening, last, rendered interesting entertainments Sunday, some in the morning and some in the evening.

At the Lutheran church Sunday evening, following a brief welcome program of exercises and songs and a violin solo by Harry Hetzel, the choir gave the cantata, "Chimes of the Holy Night." The cantata was directed by Miss Martha Zimmerman, with Charles Douglas as organist, and solo parts were taken by the Misses Alberta Esserwein, Mary Zimmerman, Florence Hively, Selma Gieckler, Nell Brungard and Kathryn Donbar and Mrs. C. O. Biddison.

Sunday School Program
The Presbyterian Sunday school program was given Sunday morning and consisted of recitations, exercises and songs, mostly by the primary and intermediate departments. The following children gave recitations and songs: Jackie Trader, Dale McCormick, Betty Lehman, John Reese Esterly, Wilma Mary Hetrick, Mildred Spink, Glenn Parks, Roy McCormick, Mary Dell Chain, Ellen Esterly, Leo Kissell, Mae Flohr and Irene Miller.

Sunday evening, the choir, directed by Mrs. C. D. Strickler, with Mrs. R. J. Barrow as accompanist, gave the cantata, "Yuletide Memories." Solo part were taken by Miss Margaret Stewart, Mrs. R. J. Weaver, Harry Yates and R. J. Barrow.

The Christmas cantata, "The Manger and the Star," was given by a choir of 23 voices Sunday evening at the Methodist church, under the direction of Mrs. Edgar F. Miller with Mrs. Elmer T. Coyle as organist. The choir also rendered special music at the morning service at which the annual white gift offering was received for the Home for the Aged at Elyria.

Treats For Children
At both the Reformed and Christian churches, the usual Sunday school Christmas programs were given Sunday evening to large audiences, and the customary treats distributed among the children.

The Church of the Brethren, Canfield road, will hold its Christmas program on Wednesday evening.

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn.
—An infuriated buck deer gored Charles A. Gadd, 64, Fort Frances, Ont., park superintendent to death when Gadd attempted to feed the animal. The deer was kept in an enclosure at Pitches Point Park. Keepers were forced to shoot the buck in order to remove Gadd's body.

Panthers Meet Pair Of Stiff Opponents In Week's Schedule

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The Christmas holidays reduce the eastern college basketball schedule to a minimum this week but leave a half dozen important contests on the program.

Most of the decisive action should be fought at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Penn's five, after a disastrous western trip, meets the undefeated Fordham outfit Saturday night. The Pitt Panthers, a strong team despite the loss of Charley Hyatt, battles Dartmouth on Tuesday and Syracuse on Saturday.

Syracuse figures in another big time battle, meeting the unbeaten Columbia Lions, Eastern Intercollegiate League champions, at Syracuse, tomorrow night.

Big Ten Activities
CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—The usual holiday lull in Big Ten basketball will not be so noticeable this season, with 13 games listed before the championship campaign opens Monday, Jan. 5.

Wisconsin and Illinois will provide the action tonight, the Badgers meeting Missouri at Madison, and Illinois entertaining Wabash. Iowa will meet Creighton at Omaha, tomorrow night, and Chicago will be host to Bradley College of Peoria, Ill., Saturday night.

Intersectional contests dominate the remainder of the pre-season schedule. On New Year's eve Brigham Young university's five will play at Chicago, while Purdue will meet Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh, and Wisconsin will go to Milwaukee for a game with Marquette.

New Year's night will find Alabama at Northwestern, Ohio Wesleyan at Michigan and Indiana at Philadelphia to play Pennsylvania.

Akron East Combine Wins 21-17 Decision Over Quakers Saturday

Defeated in their first two games by a pair of Ohio's outstanding scholastic teams, Salem High cagers will clash with their first Big Ten district league opponent, Massillon High, in the third road game of the 1930-31 campaign at Massillon Saturday night.

The Quakers lost a heart-breaking 21-17 decision to the smooth-working Akron East combine in a sensational contest at Akron Good-year gymnasium Saturday night, but flashed great strength to hold the Eastmen to the low score. The contest was close throughout, East never holding a decisive lead at any time.

Coach Stone sent a new combination into the battle, using Ed Beck and Bill Smith at forwards; Norm Early at center, and French and Paul Sartick at guards. Tom Nedelka, fast-riding youngster, replaced Beck early in the game while the rest of the formation remained intact and performed well in giving East its strongest opposition of the year.

The close battle which the Stone-men put up against both Canton McKinley, to whom they lost, 30-25 Friday, and East, gave every indication that the Red and Black will be represented by a powerful quintet this season. Both East and McKinley had a number of veterans from their formidable 1929-30 machines and were poised to win over the Quakers with ease.

The difference between Salem and its opponents on the early-season showings appeared to be that both Canton and East already have arranged their strongest combinations while Stone and his chief aide, Franklin Lewis, are not at all certain what quintet will prove strongest.

East holds lead

East held the lead throughout Saturday's game but was never at any moment certain of victory. The score at half-time was 7-6, Akron leading, while at the end of the first period it was 3-2. Starting the fourth period, Akron stepped in front and appeared enroute to a decisive victory when Stone inserted Beck back into the battle, Beck counting four points to bring Salem back into the fight.

Bill Smith and French led Salem's attack, French starting his first game. The latter came here from Cuyahoga Falls two weeks ago and promises to prove of great as-
